5. Loans under the 8yr product require a DU Approve/Eligible; LPA findings not permitted.
6. See First-Time Home Buyers under in Underwriting section below. Originators should be familiar with the area median income (AMI) limits within their market areas and should select the new first-time home buyer product only when the borrower's qualifying income is within the applicable limit and at least one borrower is a first-time home buyer. If unsure whether the income meets the applicable AMI limit, initially register loans under the standard Fannie Mae 30-Year Fixed product and submit the transaction to Desktop Underwriter (DU) to determine if the eligibility messaging shown under First-Time Home Buyers in the Underwriting section below is returned on the DU findings report. If the DU findings report does not include the messaging, the loan should not be registered under the first-time home buyer product. Originators should use the Fannie Mae Area Median Income Lookup Tool to determine the applicable income limit based on the subject property address (Note: properties not in a "High Cost Area" will not include a 120% income line):

LOAN REGISTRATION

When registering a Rate & Term with a > 95% LTV, the user will be directed to the Add Loan Purpose Info screen in Loantrac, where you must select the current First Mortgage Holder in the drop-down box. This information is transmitted to Desktop Underwriter (DU).

LOAN AMOUNTS

MAXIMUM

ELIGIBLE BORROWERS

A first-time home buyer is defined as anyone who has not had ownership interest in a residential property in the last three years.

RATE & TERM REFINANCES

When the LTV is greater than 95%, the existing loan being refinanced must be owned by Fannie Mae. Using the Fannie Mae look up tool, located at knowyouroptions.com, a screen shot of the findings must be uploaded into the loan file.
