

LOGINS

When a Seller initially becomes approved with Flagstar Bank, a welcome letter is sent to the customer and account executive assigned to the account. The account executive will provide the president/owner of the company with an initial Administrator-level user name and password to Flagstar's website (tpo.flagstar.com). This Administrator login has the capability of creating additional logins for the customer's employees under one of the following roles:

- Administrator (ADMIN): Create and modify additional logins, as well as manage resources currently enabled on their own login
- Loan Officer (LO), Lock Desk (LKDK), and Processor (TPROC): Only able to manage resources currently enabled on their own login

Please note that each role has defaulted and optional user resources that can be added/removed to the login by the Administrator to customize the appropriate access for each user (e.g. you can choose to set particular users up with the ability to lock loans online, but remove that access for others).

Each individual within your company must have their own login to the tpo.flagstar.com. The use of community logins (one login being used by more than one person) is prohibited. Any activity or information obtained using a login associated to your seller/lender ID is your sole responsibility.

TPO RESPONSIBILITIES

Administrators of the Seller are responsible for the following regarding all logins created under their Seller ID:

- Creating logins for new employees
- Resetting passwords for existing employees when necessary
- De-activating logins when an employee(s) leaves the company
- Managing logins under their Seller ID to ensure they contain only current employees
- Managing logins under their Seller ID to ensure logins have the correct role and resources based on their job responsibilities
- Periodically reviewing, validating and updating (as necessary) all logins under their Seller ID at least once every 90 days to confirm proper access rights are in place

EMAIL ADDRESSES

Email address is a required field when logins are created. Flagstar has the right to email advertisements, memos, status alerts and other materials to the email address as stored in our system.

If you would no longer like to receive emails from Flagstar, the user has the right to opt out by either selecting the opt-out link at bottom of the email or by removing all email related resources from their login profile. Please allow 5-7 business days for the change to take effect.

ACTIVE/INACTIVE FLAG

There is an active/inactive flag assigned to each user login created on tpo.flagstar.com. If a login has not been used within 90 days, Flagstar will automatically place the login in an inactive status. To reactivate a login, the user will need to contact the administrator at their company or contact their account executive.

Only Sellers in an approved status will have active logins. When a Seller is placed in a non-approved status, all logins under that Seller's ID be updated to an inactive status immediately.

PASSWORD SAFETY

Users will be required to create a unique password during their initial login to the system. User passwords are not to be shared with other employees. Passwords should adhere to the following complexity requirements:

- No account shall have a password that is equal to the username
- No account shall have a blank or null password
- Passwords should not be easily guessed or any combination of the following:
 - Address or phone number, social security number, birth date, or username.
 - Name, spouse's name, child's name, pet's name, etc.
 - Commonly associated hobby.
- Passwords should not be easily cracked through "brute force" attempts, including ensuring the password does not contain:
 - Dictionary words longer than three characters
 - Numbers only
 - Commonly used or default passwords

Since each login created under your company may potentially provide access to borrower non-public information, you should ensure that users are securing their password to prevent others from using or potentially stealing.

- Users should never keep copies of their password attached to the computer, under the keyboard, or any other place that is not secure.
- If users write down passwords, they should be kept in a locked or secure location at all times. When using an electronic file to store this information, a file level password should be used protect it.
- Users should treat all passwords with the same level of security they use for cash or personal credit cards.

THIRD PARTY VENDOR ACCESS

Logins to tpo.flagstar.com may include access to third party vendors or services (e.g. Desktop Underwriter, Loan Product Advisor, document services, verification services) which must only be used by logins of Seller to originate such loans for funding or purchase by Flagstar. Sellers are required to meet all terms as Flagstar's licensee agreement with Fannie Mae for use of Desktop Underwriter, and as such are not permitted to extend the use of the services to any party or entity not covered under terms of the agreement.

Sellers are responsible to manage all logins under their Seller ID to ensure logins have proper access to third party vendors/services based on their job responsibilities. Additionally, Sellers are responsible for obtaining proper written permission from the mortgage loan applicant before accessing various services (e.g. Desktop Underwriter, Loan Product Advisor, The Work Number, etc.).

Flagstar is responsible to immediately notify third-party vendors or services, including but not limited to Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, if there is any loss, theft or unauthorized disclosure or use of any authentication credentials.

INCIDENT REPORTING

Promptly upon becoming aware of a performance incident or breach, including any unauthorized access by their logins, Sellers must notify Flagstar and provide a detailed report of the incident to enable Flagstar to confirm incident, determine root cause and determine any remediation.

User Login Security Policies

Incidents should be reported to the Seller's account executive with details being emailed to Flagstar Mortgage Sales Support at nationalsalesanddevelopment@flagstar.com.

If the performance incident involves Desktop Underwriter or Loan Product Advisor, Flagstar Mortgage Sales Support will immediately notify the Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac with details on the incident.

During the root cause analysis, Flagstar may at its sole discretion restrict or inactivate access to tpo.flagstar.com by Seller.

INDEMNIFICATION

Sellers shall indemnify and hold Flagstar and relevant third-parties (Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, etc.) harmless for all claims or charges resulting from Sellers' failure to meet responsibilities contained herein to properly manage login administration to tpo.flagstar.com, including improper access to any third party vendors or services, under their Seller ID.
